

ISSUES A NEW RULING COVERING BOOTLEGERS

With Moonshiners, Will Be Given Same Show, Under Law, as Other Offenders.

WILL BE GIVEN HEARING

Before Being Assessed Upon Recommendation of Federal Prohibition Director Will Be Offered Opportunity to Prove Innocence.

Bootleggers and moonshiners are to have the same show, under the law, now, that other offenders have. Instead of being assessed upon the recommendation of the Federal prohibition director, they will have a hearing, and will be given a chance to prove their innocence before judgment is passed upon them.

According to information received from headquarters of the Washington office of Collector of Internal Revenue C. Noel yesterday, "bootleggers and moonshiners," will not be assessed until after ten days' notice has been served on the alleged guilty parties. They will be permitted to file protest in writing, and, if such protest is filed within the proper time, and the collector fails to produce evidence, a deputy attorney general of internal revenue will be designated to hear the case. This evidence may be either verbal or documentary, and the accused will have the privilege of being represented by counsel. All of the evidence is to be taken by a duly sworn stenographer.

The deputy collector bearing the evidence will file his report with the collector, who will review it and then submit it to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, and recommend whether or not, in his judgment, the assessment of penalty should be made against the accused. The commissioner will then determine whether assessment shall be made.

Under the preceding law, the accused was brought before the Federal prohibition director without notice and, upon the recommendation of the director, the commissioner would make the assessment.

The assessments against "bootleggers" and "moonshiners" ranges from $500 to $5,000, according to the capacity of the still. In addition, a flat sum of $1,000 is often made.

The deputy collector to hear the evidence against "bootleggers" and "moonshiners" has not yet been designated by collector Noel.

COUNCIL GETS DOWN TO WORK NEXT WEEK

CITY FATHERS WILL CATCH THEIR STRIDE FOLLOWING VOTE RETURN FROM VACATIONS.

City Councilmen will catch their stride next week. With the return of Councilmen from their vacations and the Dock commissioners back from Portland, the wheels of state will begin to turn. The Streets Committee will meet at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The petition of the Virginia Electric and Power Company for an extension of its 6 cent fare privileges will be discussed and probably acted upon by that committee, and further report from the experts looking into the conditions of the traction company may be received. It is believed the final action on this group will be made about the middle of October.

The Finance and Auditorium Committees will meet on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, and on Thursday night the Committee on Ordinances will assemble. These committees will take up matters referred by Council. A date may be fixed next week for a meeting of the special committee on Revision of the Rules.

HOLD ALLEGED SLAYER OF THREE FOR HEARING

TWENTY-THREE-YEAR-OLD NEGRO IS Bound over to State's Attorney for Trial.

Willie Edward Clayton, 23, colored, alleged confessed killer of three people, was bound over to the October term of the Henrico County grand jury at a preliminary hearing before Trial Justice J. W. Pitts on the murder charges yesterday morning.

Clayton is alleged to have shot his father-in-law and aunt to death at their home on the Osborne Turnpike early yesterday morning. It is said, they were attempting to settle a family quarrel following the shooting. Clayton went to the home of Officer Shoemaker, who is said to have confessed to the crime. An attempt to inject a theory of self-defense by Senator Julian Gamm, cousin for the prisoner, was squashed by the testimony of the county officer. The prisoner was refused bail and remained to jail. Trial of Clayton on the triple murder charge is expected to begin about October 14.

V. P. I. ALUMNI MOVE TO ATTEND BIG GAME

President of Association Insists
Secretary to Issue Call for Meeting Thursday Night.

M. C. Smith, president of the Richmond V. P. I. Alumni Association, has instructed Secretary Charles W. White to issue a call for a meeting to be held next Thursday night, September 21, at 8 o'clock, at the Richmond Hotel, for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the V. P. I. alumni participation in the V. P. I.-Centre College football game October 14.

Dr. Lawrence T. Price, former president of the General Alumni Association of V. P. I., said last night that preparations were being made to "whoo-hoo" things up, and draw out a record-breaking crowd for the contest.

Services at Beth Ahabah. With this week Beth Ahabah congregation will resume its full services. Rabbi Edward N. Chilson will speak at both services, his wife not being far from him at 11 o'clock. "Fading of the Light" and the Sabbath at 6 p.m. "Standing in the Presence of God." The general rule is welcome at services at Beth Ahabah. Miss Edna E. Brandt of New York City will sing a solo at the Friday evening service.

Pickled Herring Condemned. Five kegs of pickled herring, approximately 100 pounds, were condemned at the Atlantic Coast Line Railway freight station yesterday by J. A. Donati and A. B. Ferguson, city food inspectors. The herring was sent to the city incinerator.

Y. M. C. A. WILL ENTERTAIN
STUDENTS OF MEDICAL COLLEGE

Program, Beginning at 8 o'clock Tonight, Will Be Featured by Music, Readings and Brief Addresses. Physical Directors Promise "Stunts."

The central Young Men's Christian Association will give a reception to the students of the Medical College of Virginia tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock and closing when they get ready to go home. The program will be featured by music, readings and two or three brief addresses.

Speakers will be James P. Jones, president of the association, who will give the welcoming address; Dr. H. L. Stimpert, president of the Medical College; Y. M. C. A. board, and Minnie W. Lee, State secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. Miss Bossie Mae Dudley, one of the most popular impersonators in the city, will give several readings, and Hugh B. Bugg, tenor at Broad Street Methodist Church, will sing.

At the close of the program in the auditorium everybody will adjourn to the roof garden, where refreshments will be served and there will be an informal program consisting of singing, which will be conducted by Howard Bryant and a contingent of Rotarians, who will be on hand for the special purpose. No further announcement is necessary, it is necessary to insure a good time.

Physical Director Keeton, and his assistant, R. E. Morris, are planning to stage some informal contests between the students themselves, and a swimming and diving exhibition by some of the "crack" Y. swimmers.

All students of the Medical College are invited, and the members of the Young Women's Christian Association are invited as special guests of the occasion.

Secretary Sullinger, of the Medical College branch, is working overtime in a campaign to enroll the students in membership at the Central "Y" and reports that they are signing up in large numbers. Directors of the central association feel that the work of the Medical College branch will be one of the biggest achievements of fall and winter work. Both the faculty and the Y. M. C. A. board are lined up solidly behind the movement, and all are enthusiastic over the situation.

BUILDING APPLICATIONS
INVOLVE OVER $200,000

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE BUSY AS AT ANY TIME DURING THE LAST YEAR.

The building inspector's bureau of the Department of Public Safety is busy, it was said yesterday by Acting Inspector Schrader, as at any time this year. Applications for new work, amounting to more than $100,000, were filed yesterday, and permits are being issued more than $100,000 are issued. The applications include five by Max E. Bushnell, for as many brick dwellings; three on Tilford Street, south of Stewart Avenue, one at 3153 West Main Street, and one at 3155 West Main Street, each to cost $9,000; by trustees of First Christian Church, to build a brick church building at Grace Avenue and Shepard Street; in construction by Lucile N. Miller, to build a frame and galvanized iron tobacco storage shed at Seventh and Morgan Streets; at Seventh and Morgan Streets, to cost $20,000.

Mr. T. Riddick, director of the pools and pet stock department of the State fair, said last night that entries are being received from all over the State from farms for the Georgia, and as far north as New York, which indicate the department will have the greatest number of exhibits in the history of the fair.

Entries close tomorrow, September 16, and it is important that entries be mailed so as to reach the offices in Richmond not later than Monday morning, September 18.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

Mr. McCormack is from the Sixth District, in which John Paul, candidate for Congress, lives, and it is believed by the leaders of that district that McCormack and Paul will bring out a heavier vote there than any other two candidates that could be named.

</